

Cords of Attachment

When two people interact and exchange energies, the imbalances attract them together, rather like the opposite poles of magnets.

These bonds can be seen as cords which connect them together, and these cords can be easily detected by psychics and spirit release practitioners, and are also often seen quite clearly in your client's visualisation. They can appear as rope, ribbons or beams of light to name but a few.

It is these that hold a loving couple together, or stop an unloving couple from parting, so they can have both positive and negative attributes.

In addition to the rebalancing of stolen or given energy, these cords must be cut in order to detach or release your client from their karmic counterparts. To do this, you must first have your subject imagine this connection between themselves and the soul that they have invited into the garden. We can have hundreds of these connections possibly to everyone we know or have known, so you need to help your client to tune in only to those that associate with the present visitor, there in the safe place.

To do this you must first have your subject imagine this connection between themselves and the soul that they have invited into the garden. Once they are aware of the cord or cords you can then ask your client to sever them, and get them to tell you how they intend to do this. They could use scissors, a big machete or just snap it with their hands.

Some say that it is important to cut the cord at both ends and then visualise it being burnt on a bonfire. Probably a good idea because it will help tie up any loose ends. Pun intended.

Below is a small script for cutting cords.

Cutting the Cords Script

I want you to return to the chair in the garden ... your safe place. And as you settle here ... you notice that beside the chair is another chair and you are going to invite somebody in to sit in this chair and talk with you.

I want you to invite into the garden now the person you interacted with ... from that past life. Invite (past life character's name) into the garden. Now see him/her walking towards you and sitting down beside you. Tell me when he/she is here.

Wait for a response.

And now I want you to speak to that person and tell him/her how you feel.

Tell me what you hear him/her say.

Wait for a response.

You have an energy bond with him/her and I want you to see that energy connection on that person as a cord attaching you both together. There may be more than one cord. Only tune into the cord which connect the two of you. Tell me when you see the cord.

Wait for a response.

I want you to tell him/her that you are now going to sever this cord ... separating you from him/her. Tell me where – within the physical body – you see the cord connected to you.

Wait for a response.

Now you must sever this cord ... and I want you to tell me how you intend to do this.

Wait for a response.

Thank you. Now break this cord ... this bond with this person ... and tell me when you have done that.

Wait for a response.

Now ask (past life character's name) to leave the garden now. Thank him/her for visiting you here in the garden and allowing the cord to be broken. See him/her go now ... getting smaller and smaller ... disappearing altogether. Tell me when he/she has fully gone.

Wait for a response.